

Mr. Kadri Nassiep

CEO, South African National Energy Research Institute (SANERI)

Kadri Nassiep is chief executive officer of the South African National Energy Research Institute and acting general manager of the National Energy Efficiency Agency. A mathematical scientist by profession, his career has given him a unique first-hand insight into the complex challenges associated with sustainable development. Instrumental in introducing biofuels into the South African economy, Kadri continues to play a leading role in shaping the country's energy research and development agenda.